

Investment Delivery Forum Advisory Panel

Meeting date: 4 September 2023

This meeting took place via video conference.

Since the first Investment Delivery Forum meeting in June 2023, the Investment Delivery Forum Advisory Panel held its inaugural meeting on 4 September 2023, attended by a wide range of senior leaders and experts.

The Advisory Panel discussed feedback on the Investment Delivery Forum work to date, including key topics and issues on each of the three workstreams.

Attendees shared a view that successful delivery of the UK's Net Zero/Energy Security Strategy and initiatives like the UK Investment Bank should deliver a significant volume of infrastructure projects in the UK in the next decade.

For the Energy workstream, members discussed that success will likely depend heavily on addressing issues with the energy grid. New investment models from developers/sponsors will be needed alongside a change in insurer approaches. For the Housing and Property workstream, it was noted that there are challenges regarding the lack of long-dated projects suitable for insurers.

Participants in the meeting gave a strong indication that the work of the Investment Delivery Forum has merit and that stakeholders across the ecosystem want to engage with the Investment Delivery Forum. The Forum is now working with some of the Advisory Panel members on exploring a number of different investment models.

Next steps:

The next Investment Delivery Forum meeting will take place in October 2023.
